THE PORTICO, 1963

ROY C. KETCHAM HIGH SCHOOL

Wappingers Falls, New York

BEN F. INGRAHAM, Principal

Edition II, Volume 1

FOREWORD

This was the first year at our new Roy C. Ketcham High School, and the Senior Class of 1963 is proud to be the first graduating class.

Due to the fact that this was our first year on full sessions after three years of split sessions, and that we were confronted with the usual frustrations in the opening of a new school, we found the routine of school life somewhat changed. Meeting these problems with patience and resourcefulness, the students soon found that the expanded facilities of the physical unit of our school system have enriched the opportunities for greater development of the potential of each individual.

The staff of the 1963 PORTICO has attempted to show the aspects of school life which tend to encourage and develop creativeness, a determinant in a richer and fuller adult life.

Contemporary society has been described as a materialistic one. In the space race emphasis has been placed upon science and technology. Humanities and the arts have been left by the wayside. We feel that, for society to be complete, the arts should be placed on the same level as science. More emphasis should be put upon music, art and individual craftsmanship.

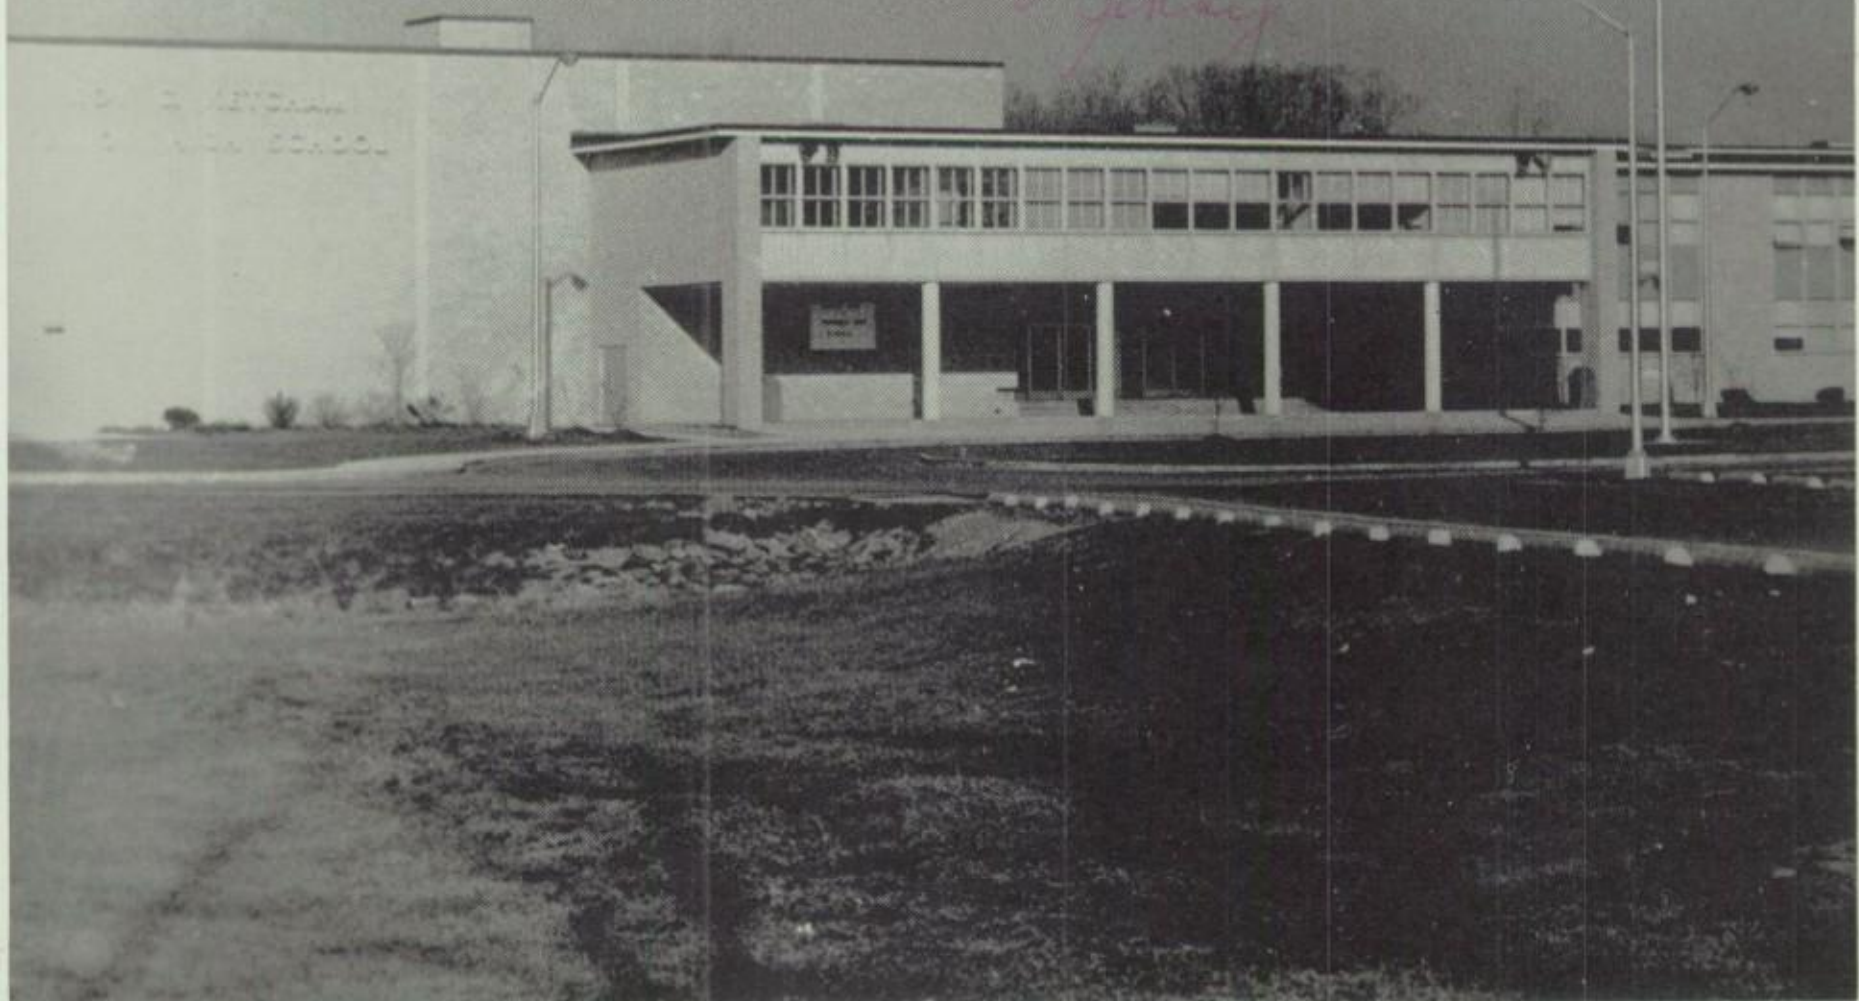

Looking ahead, the future, of course, is uncertain, fraught with problems and difficulties. However, judging from the manner in which we have accepted the responsibilities in making our new school something to be truly proud of, we should be able to overcome any obstacles in the future. Having already put what our teachers have taught us to good use in establishing and confirming the distinction of our new school, we shall again and again draw upon the knowledge and wisdom gained in class in solving problems and dilemmas which destiny has in store for us. One of our greatest assets, as high school graduates, is the prudence and creativeness with which we release our human potentialities.

ACADEMICS

The entire academic structure of Roy C. Ketcham High School is designed to encourage the student to make the fullest use of his capabilities. More than ever before, he is being stimulated by such things as: the English listening course which is given during lunch period for those interested in drama or poetry; the advancement placement courses offered for those who show a talent and interest for certain phases of their studies; and new clubs in languages and sciences which help him outside of the regular periods.

In this evolution of intellectual interest, the student can appreciate the untiring service of the Board of Education and the Administration who continually stand ready to assist in fostering these concepts of learning. The members of the guidance department and the faculty should also be commended for their dedication in rendering a helping hand in directing the student as he broadens the scope of his mind.

The English department is an important part of our school. Everyone is required to take four years of English, but there are different levels of teaching within a grade to best prepare each individual for his future endeavors. For seniors there is an advanced placement class as well. Members of the English department often conduct trips which enable the students to grow culturally. Among these trips is the annual spring trip to the Stratford Shakesperian Theatre.

The language department is also growing. In addition to French, Latin, Spanish, and German, we now have a first year of Russian. This year we have a much improved language laboratory where it is hoped students will gain greater proficiency in speaking a second language.

The mathematics and science departments are endeavoring to help each student exercise his full capacities. This year's senior class was the first to take algebra in the eighth grade and several seniors are now taking calculus. The program is now being stepped up and ninth graders have the opportunity of taking plane and solid geometry in the same year. In the science field there is now an advanced biology course. Students enrolled in this course spend three days a week and one Saturday a month doing research in various phases of microbiology.

Social studies is also required of every student for four years. In addition to regular and honors classes, there is an advanced placement course for American history. Students are here given more opportunity to do research on topics of interest to them.

The music department has grown considerably. There are two bands, three choruses and a much larger orchestra than previously. Here, there are many advantages for the talented and diligent student. He is able to enjoy the thrill of being a member of a collective group of musicians. He is also able to enter competition to get a rating on his solo work and then is eligible to go to the All-County and Sectional All-State Festival. We are honored to have, this year, our first delegate to the Northeastern Conference Band.

The art department is mainly for the creative student. The aim is to develop an appreciation of art and provide opportunities for art expression. An art exhibit is held annually and many of our students participate. Students in the industrial arts are interested in the materials of industry—printing, wood working and metal working. Each year some students take part in the Mid-Hudson Lamp Contest.

The homemaking department endeavors to teach girls to be good homemakers and to guide in the development of a personality enhanced with refinement and charm. Students study nutrition, child care, home management, interior decorating and good grooming.

The department of commerce prepares students to step out of high school and into the business world. Business students gain a working knowledge of typing, bookkeeping and shorthand. Many seniors are selected to work at I.B.M. as apprentices in the business field.

With the combined efforts of the Board of Education, the Administration, the Guidance Department, the faculty and students, the Roy C. Ketcham graduates have little trouble in achieving their goal which is to open the door of creativeness in academic learning.

In Memory of the Sophomore Tree
of the Class of '63

The Senior Epic

All hail the mighty Senior Class!
We've conquered many fears;
And as we leave these hallowed halls,
We'll now retrace our years.

In '59 when we were young,
And joined the high school race,
In classes, sports, and music, too,
We tried to make our place.

Not daring to be late for class
Lest others on us spy,
We hurried here and hurried there,
Bewildered, scared and shy.

Our freshman pride was "Harbor Lights,"
A dance of wide acclaim,
The money in the till was great—
We'd made ourselves a name.

The next year we were more mature
And wisely set our goals.
With guidance counselors we sat down
To plan our future roles.

Three great events occurred that year:
Our J.V.'s victory,
"Carousel," our sophomore Hop,
And the planting of our tree.

As juniors we returned to find
Our cherished tree was dead.
Our spirits were not dampened, though,
We boldly charged ahead.

It took two times to vote on them,
At last our choice was made.
The rings were great, their shape was round;
With no one would we trade.

The dance that year was "Vertigo,"
(A fear of falling down)
With spirals hanging from the roof,
It increased our renown.

Our Junior Prom was a success,
And Sally was the queen.
Our "Holiday in Venice" was
A quite romantic scene.

As seniors soon to join the world,
We've ordered caps and gowns;
Applied to many colleges
In near and distant towns.

We worked both night and day to plan
"Our Hearts were Young and Gay,"
(Acclaimed by all the audience
The greatest Senior Play).

The game 'twixt us and faculty—
Breathtaking was the score;
A smaller margin 'tween the two
Than ever was before!

The Senior Prom we won't forget.
Our will is sealed and signed.
Class Night, parties, the fun we've had,
We always bear in mind.

Our work in school is well nigh done,
The juniors have the key,
And now we proudly graduate,
The Class of '63.

ACTIVITIES

Our school offers a wide range of activities to provide for the varying interests of the student body.

Under the leadership of its officers and council, the General Organization serves as the governing body of the students. It maintains the G.O. Store, the Kiosk, and the Monitor Squad. Each year the G.O. sponsors a foreign student program which, in its small way, helps to promote good foreign relations.

For those students whose interest lies in the field of writing, there are various ways to release this desire for creativeness. Among the publications are the WAPPERIAN, published monthly, and our yearbook, the PORTICO.

The honorary Thespian Society and the Gallery Club provide opportunities for the drama-minded student. The Gallery Club aims to develop and promote an interest in drama and the theatre. The program for the year includes outside speakers, a study of classic plays and current Broadway hits, trips to New York and Vassar Experimental Theatre productions. The club also sponsors at least one outstanding movie for the student body during the year.

Students who have musical talent find the majorettes and the marching band excellent outlets for exercising these talents. Sports events would certainly lack color without these students. The participants in the concert band, orchestra and choruses look forward each year to their concerts, truly thrilling experiences.

A new organization in Roy C. Ketcham this year is the Future Homemakers of America. There are both junior and senior chapters with a total membership of about forty students. The objectives of this organization are: to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of home-making; to emphasize the importance of worthy home membership; to encourage democracy in home and community life; to work for good home and family life for all; to promote international good will; to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life; to provide wholesome individual and group recreation; and to further interests in home economics. Some of their activities have been various demonstrations, sponsoring a dance and planning for a Mother-Daughter dinner.

The debate teams have found the opportunity for self expression in an intrinsically valuable experience. The one purpose of debate is to train leaders for America's future. Debate trains participants to think creatively and gain experience in the arts of communication, thus they gain a greater understanding and feeling for free enterprise.

There are many organizations which carry out beneficial services for the faculty and students. The members of the Audio-Visual Club give up their study hall time to aid teachers in projecting films as well as distributing materials such as opaque projectors, overhead projectors, record players, and tape recorders. This service is of tremendous help to the general classroom procedures. A small service group but one worthy of mention is the library assistant's group who assist the librarians with all phases of library work. The Handbook committee works diligently to supply students with valuable information about the school. This is a very valuable guide in the hands of old and new students alike. The Announcement Squad renders an invaluable service in informing the students of daily activities and pertinent notes of interest.

The students who do not participate in sports but who wish to develop leadership and promote school spirit may give vent to their interests in the G.A.A., the Leader's Corps, the J.V. and Varsity Cheerleaders squads and the Booster Club.

One of the most highly respected groups of Roy C. Ketcham is the National Honor Society. As a reward for academic and extra-curricular achievement, many students are inducted into both the senior and junior chapters.

With this vast offering of activities every individual has an opportunity to exercise self-expression and leadership in his field of interest. From these creative experiences spring the well-equipped citizens of the future.

SPORTS

The interscholastic sports program at Wappingers Central School includes varsity football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, baseball, tennis, track and golf plus junior varsity football, basketball and baseball. Indoor track and cross country have been included in the program this year by the addition of Mr. Shatzel to the staff of coaches at Wappingers. In the near future, it is hoped that sports such as crew, gymnastics and bowling will be added. Eighth and ninth graders have also been given an opportunity to participate in various sports to teach them the basic fundamentals of the games and get them in condition so they will be more experienced and bring better and stronger teams to our school in the future.

If judged on the basis of winning teams, the sports program this year may appear to be unsuccessful. However, when studied, one can easily see the large number of returning freshmen and sophomores who have gained much experience and who will bring victory and ultimate success to our school.

Our football schedule is comparable to some of the largest schools in our area. The wins and losses, therefore, don't stack favorably for us since we have won one and tied another game. In one of the losses, however, the Arlington Admirals were given quite a fight and this proved to be our most exciting game.

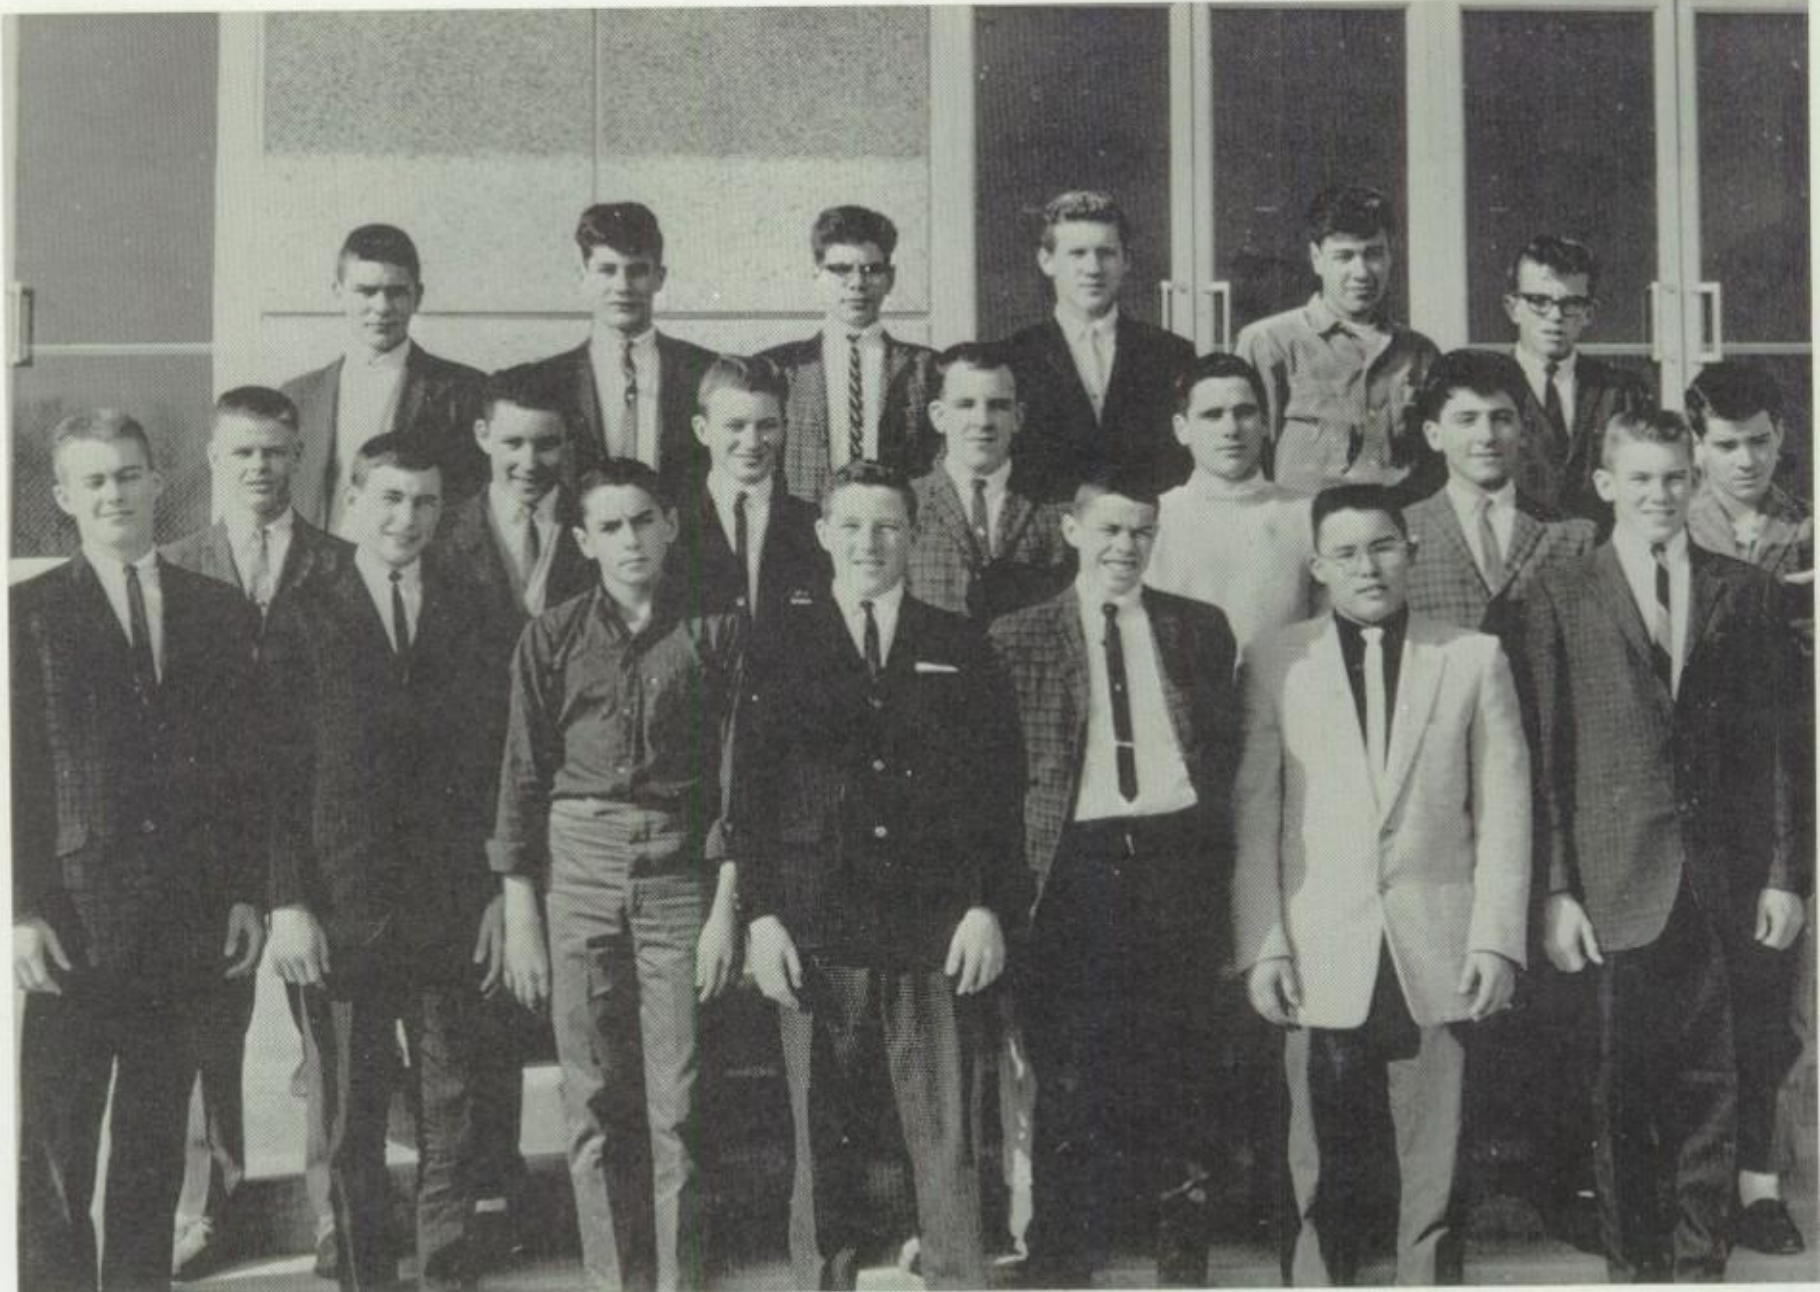

Exciting games, such as these, won or lost, prove that our teams possess a fine spirit of sportsmanship. For these attributes, credit goes not only to the teams themselves, but also to the coaches as well. We would be remiss here, if we did not pay tribute to the untiring efforts of the long admired varsity coach, Mr. Macrini. Mr. Macrini, next year, will pass his position as varsity football coach to a new coach, Mr. Lynn. Mr. Lynn will receive the same help from assistant coach, Mr. Cannava and putting aside the losses of this year, the players are planning to return with renewed enthusiasm to change our defeats to victories.

Our soccer team, under the leadership of Bruce Bryden, for the first time since soccer was initiated at Wappingers, won more than half their games. They also placed second in the league and will, no doubt, after this novice year, bring a soccer championship to Wappingers.

With underclassmen usually dominating the starting five and playing one of the most difficult schedules in New York State, victory escaped our basketball team this year. Coach Williams and his undergraduate team will return next year, and with seasoned timber, assure the Wappingers fans of a victorious season.

Speaking of victory, we are truly proud of Coach Dinkelmeyer's wrestling team. This year the wrestling team brought the third consecutive Dutchess County Scholastic League Championship to Wappingers.

In addition to the interscholastic sports program, there is also a very active intramural schedule in the girls' physical education program. The girls participate in field hockey, volleyball, softball, track and field and archery. The volleyball team won the county tournament this year with seven wins and one defeat. If the girls continue the winning streak in basketball competition, victory should be theirs. These competitions are arranged among six schools and serve to stimulate a great deal of interest.

YOU ASK . . .

You ask a question. When it is answered or solved, you have gained a bit of knowledge. Having gained that bit of knowledge, you ask more questions because every bit of knowledge implies new questions.

Though education never can be complete for any person; though education continually becomes, in fact, more and more incomplete as the questions one asks become more complex and numerous, it is not futile. It is no more futile than working for some great ideal such as freedom because each step forward in education or in the quest for freedom is in itself a personal reward.

And the similarity between education and the quest for freedom goes further. Each step forward in education takes the thoughtful person a step closer to the greatest freedom of all — the freedom from ignorance which is self-realization.

Education is always a beginning.

IBM takes great pleasure in congratulating all of this year's graduates and in wishing each of you a long and rewarding journey on the endless road of awakening. We bid you to look upon your graduation not as graduating FROM school but TO broader education and greater fulfillment.

Why buy an imitation when you can have the real thing

WOOD-MODE kitchens

(and only Wood-Mode Kitchens)

give you true Colonial design with authentic V-joint construction

Do you prefer Colonial? Then you want true Colonial design with authentic V-joints in cabinet fronts . . . not just the routed, imitation joints which give a simulated look to panels.

The fine workmanship of genuine V-joints, in oak, maple or knotty pine is only one of Wood-Mode's exclusive features. Be sure to see these superior kitchens before you make your buying decision. Come in and see our displays . . . in Colonial, Contemporary and Provincial styles. See the exceptional selection of colors, finishes and special-purpose units. Look into the advantages of Wood-Mode custom-built, custom-designed kitchens.

for those who demand the finest
